Introducing our new Restorative Justice Administrator: Karen Currie

Karen has worked in the human services field for over 20 years. In her role as Social Worker/Counsellor for thirteen years she supported and advocated for individuals and families who had a family member or friend in prison, providing support during the sentence and on release. In 2007 she had the privilege of working for a community-based Restorative Justice project in Christchurch in a voluntary capacity and it is here she witnessed how empowering and restorative the process can be for all those involved.

Karen has a strong sense of social justice, which has its roots in her catholic upbringing and she takes a very keen interest in the changes occurring in society, locally and globally and the impacts it is having on people's lives. In her spare time she can be found researching on the internet, connecting with family/friends, reading, biking, walking the hills and listening to music.

We wish Karen all the best for her new position!
